As a licensed mold remediator, we are trained and equipped to perform this service with very little adjustment. We've studied the latest standards, adopted state-of-the-art equipment, recertified our teams on updated procedures, and ensured the resilience of our supply chain.

Due to the lack of testing against the specific novel coronavirus, SARS CoV-2, VetCor cannot warrant absolute disinfection of the site, nor can we prevent potential re-contamination by any third parties. However, we have used the most effective procedures, equipment and chemicals available based on published guidance from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.
